...aste of hotels, big stadiums and flyovers. Delhi will become an international city after the 2010 Games
Sanjeev Srivastava, MD, Assotech Ltd.

The Commonwealth Games will not facilitate real estate greatly, except for infrastructural development of Delhi NCR. This, of course, will improve the connectivity, thereby giving a better look to Delhi. Since the Games will attract many visitors, tourism will grow. Hotel occupancy and demand for serviced apartments will go up

WORKWISE

- To improve traffic flow on existing roads, plans are under way to make both the inner and outer ring roads signal-free
- New buses are being deployed and BRT corridors are being constructed
- The Games Village, which is expected to set new standards in athlete accommodation during the Games and as luxury housing afterwards, is a good public-private partnership model

For the Games, visitors from all over the world will come
